

AP English Language and Composition

Nov. 4 – 28, 2011

The Moodle is required as per the posted instructions. Do it weekly; do not save this work until the few days just before the mid quarter and the end of the quarter.

We will be working through Truman Capote's In Cold Blood in our class discussions between now and Nov. 22 before you go on Thanksgiving break. You should create for yourself a pace that moves you through the book at 15-20 page increments per day until you finish reading it. Our discussion will continue beyond your completion of the reading. This is a fairly light pace for this book to allow for your writing process for the narrative essay. A separate sheet has already been posted for that.

Expect timed-writing assignments on Wednesday, Nov. 9 and on Friday, Nov. 18. These will not be connected with our reading and will not require studying the night before.
